Old 97's, No Mother

In the valley of the shadows Im waiting For mother and the other ones I love So know III always love you Until we meet above

In the battle of the bottle Im an innocent And the breaking of glass Im lost In the shadow of a downtown overpass My last I did exhaust

No no no mother should ever have to lose a son No no no mother especially not such a handsome one

In the middle of the meadow Im waiting For mother and the other ones I love Theres no good why this came to pass Theres only just because

No no no mother should ever have to lose a son No no no mother especially such a handsome one
