

Old Dominion, Can't Break Up Now (feat. Megan

You know the color of my coffee
Too many t-shirts in my closet that you bought me
At this point, I can't unlearn the things you've taught me
About myself

You pick the music when I'm driving
Your mama always takes my side when you fight me
And these days, my dog likes you more than he likes me
You can just tell

So what am I supposed to, unlisten to every song written?
Take you out of every melody?
You know my secrets, my demons, and I know your weaknesses
All of your doubts and your dreams

So we
Can't break up now
No, we
Can't break up now

I hate the thought of starting over
If you left, I know I'd never get closure
Can't imagine letting anyone get closer
Than you are to me, oh

Yeah, I'll battle this out all night till we fix it
If the ship's going down, I'm going down with it
Your friends are my friends
I start where you end
We've got too much history

So we
Can't break up now
No, we
Can't break up now

We've come too far and we're in too deep
We love too hard just to let it go
So we
Can't break up now, oh

So what am I supposed to, unlisten to every song written?
Take you out of every melody?

No, we
Can't break up now
No, we
Can't break up now
No, we
Can't break up now
No, we
Can't break up now

We've come too far and we're in too deep
We love too hard just to let it go
So we

No, we
