

Olivia Newton-John, I Will Touch You

(Cagan)

I can count the teardrops hidden from your eyes
I can hear the sadness that your smile belies
Thought I heard a whisper
Did it come from you
If you say you're ready
I am ready too

I will touch you deep inside where love is
I will touch your sorrow and make it go away

I can hear the questions running through your mind
I can feel the answers very close behind
When your heart is ready
You will understand
When you're tired of crying
You will take my hand

I will touch you deep inside where love is
I will touch your sorrow and make it go away