

Olivia The Band, Something Greater

If there's so much to be said
Why do I have nothing to say
What makes my blood boil
What makes my heart break
It makes my stomach hurt and
Tears roll down my face
I know tomorrow will be another day

Then we will sing we believe in something
Greater than what's called love
Written all around us faces and surrounding
All the people that we know

If there's so much to be said
Why do my hands hold a blank page
What makes my mouth dry
What makes my voice break
It makes me so frustrated
When I try to explain
Employ these words and
Please show me what to say

Then we will sing we believe in something
Greater than what's called love
Written all around us faces and surrounding
All the people that we know

Will I look back with regret
Will I be proud of all the things I've done
When sorrows separate and fade

Then we will sing we believe in something
Greater than what's called love
Written all around us faces and surrounding
All the people that we know

Then we will sing we believe in something
Greater than what's called love
Written all around us faces and surrounding
All the people that we know
