On Thorns I Lay, My Angel

How long I will exist among dead stars How long I will be a game without end I will be waiting travelling to endless skies Choked into the seas of your forgetfulness

Like a bird I am flying far away Searching for joy To another place

Temptation
Destination
Of desire for
Every darkness
There is a light
For every innocent soul
There is a promise
And a god on the skies

Like a bird I am flying far away Searching for joy To another place

How long I will exist among dead stars How long I will be a game without end I will be waiting travelling to endless skies Choked into the seas of your forgetfulness