

One King Down, Deliver Me

i look into the mirror and I can't see what's wrong i gaze at my face i look into my eyes i make the faces that i've made before what makes them come so close what makes them turn away my eyes reveal nothing as i stare into their depths my face lines with grief i don't know why my lips crack that twisted smile again of anguish and pain my image contorts what can i do where can i find the answers that i seek deliver me nothing is resolved i simply stare into my face of one who is confused, afraid and alone deliver me deliver me from this
