

One Minute Silence, A Song About

So here we go again, we're going live
To contemplate the moment is to not waste time
Science can turn the water into wine
If God has got your dreams mapped
Well she can have you

With good intentions, I intend to ... cos' if I Didn't open up your mind to the possibilities
You and I among the masses, my
The truth is just a tale of
Can you catch me?

I'm fake, I'm a lie, all's said and done we die
My head upside down and your promises

I'm awake, I'm alive, all's said and done we die
My head upside down and your promises

Always on my own cos' this world is running blind
And the truth is seldom told my friend
But it all comes back to haunt you in the end

Clearly they have called a compromise
If you could turn your head around
For one second please
Open up your mind to what is right
So what you gonna do if I call your game to light?

Seasons come and go between the signs
The ins and outs of it
I've become what I've killed in time
Here we are again, behind our lines
The past has never moved yet
Can you catch me?

I'm fake, I'm a lie, all said and done we die
My head upside down and your promises

I'm awake, I'm alive, all's said and done we die
My head upside down and your promises

Always on my own cos' this world is running blind
And the truth is seldom told my friend
But it all comes back to haunt you

No I don't want to be the one with bad news again
Christ I don't want to hear you scream at me
Life sure makes me feel like I'm losing it
Let the day take me, let the day take me

No I don't want to be the one with bad news again
Christ I don't want to hear you scream at me
Life sure makes me feel like I'm losing it
Let the day take me, let the day take me

No I don't want to be the one with bad news again
Christ I don't want to hear (Let the day take it from me now)
No I don't want to be the one with bad news again
Christ I don't want to hear (Let the day take it from me now)

Always on my own, cos' this world is running blind
And the trust is seldom told my friend
But it all comes back to haunt you

And I'm, always on my own
Cos' this world is running blind
And the truth is seldom told my friend
But it all comes back to haunt you
Haunt you, haunt you, haunt you (Haunt you)
Haunt you; haunt you (Haunt you)
Haunt you; haunt you, in the end