

Onward, Onward

Onward I walk, alone and abandoned

Feeling the wind and the icy cold rain Feeling each step, destiny hidden All too aware of the fear and the pain Feeling the sting of true betrayal now I have no one to trust but myself I am now one, no more believer yet there is still wind to fill my sail

A paradise I seek shall be found The only one I'll know I challenge failure to cut me down
'cause it's Onward I shall go My power strength shall never die as long as I stay alive
One word shall always be by my side Ever moving Onward!!!!

Battles I've won, the war I have lost My blood and my tears they are equally spilled The risk I shall take, the feel of the cost the prophecies of shattered dreams now fulfilled
The specters they watch, I can hear them laugh yet I will impale onto their doubting eyes Victory due one of these days revenge will silently come all in due time

Onward on - never underestimate my force of will Onward on - never I will hesitate to know that I will fight!!

(SOLO)

Onward I walk, with each step now close but closer to something that might not be there Using the rage, feeling the hunger the book that I read always has a new page Come strike me down, take all that you need Resilience is my newfound weapon of choice Again I will rise, one day I will win as long as I sing Onward cry from my voice!!