

Opiate For The Masses, Shadows

There's something somewhere scratching silently inside of me
It's always with me somewhere growing- feeding steadily Without a line from who we are to what we claim to be,
Every time we lose ourselves, we find our destiny

We hurt and kill the ones we love and Give to charity and then we, and then we Smile at those we hate and Feed on their prosperity until we, until we

HATE, we hate our shadows
We hate our shadows
Don't look back

Beaming through the brightest moment
When there's hell to pay
Sealing up inside ourselves,
We hush it all away
Responding badly to the news that Everything's Okay
So kill ourselves tomorrow just to Push us through today

I hate living this way
So why can't we change?
I hate living this way
So why can't we change?
We change forever
