

Orange Blue, Book Without Words love can slay with just one breath but can also unlock every gate do you have to choke this spell with your rational reality there's a book without words more alive than all imaginable thoughts you know and if this is just a pipe dream what is the real sense of every single song, taste and scent

I know my fate

love is just a magic thing defeating disbelief and time and space who is looking for direction rather than what our life is presenting us your dark vale is not the gist you will fail if you miss the hills above the overcast sky you didn't shelter me with the warmth in your eyes from the chill of neverending void outside inhale the blaze breathe in my face a blaze it isn't fair to turn the dagger and to lure the hope with untrue thoughts how can naiveté be so wrong how can intuition go astray

there's a book without words ...
