

Orange Blue, Caught In Silence

I see your face,
All the lines are telling me,
The fate...
In your face,
Its written there,
You left without a trace.

But all the things you lock away,
Will increase the price you pay,

Now I realise why she is caught in silence
Searching for her heart.
Though it seems as if she smiles,
This smile is not her own.

Now I understand at last,
that her life is overcast.
With the world full of drea,
The fear without words,
She says more than I can hear.

Now I understand,
Why you fell into a deep..
Oblivion

Your recordly has been so strong,
There is nothing you did wrong.

Now I realise why she is caught in silence.
Searching for her home.
Though it seems as if she smiles,
this smile is not her own.

Now I understand at last,
That her life is overcast,
With the world full of dread.
The fear without words,
She says more than I can hear.

And she is caught in silence
Searching for her home.
Though it seems when she smiles,
That smile isnt her own.
Though I understand at last,
Her life is overcast
With the world full of dread,
The fear without words.
She says more than I can hear.

And this smile is not her own,
Now I understand at last,
That her life is overcast,
With the world full of dread.
And fear,
And without words,
She says more than I can hear.