

Oratory, Story Of All Times

Once you love a force in all hearts could cause this pain a story of all times

The prince should have known she wasn't his queen but he didn't care
love was not a sin

Even if his father didn't like what he felt was much stronger than life

Near the river found their love forbidden and secret
I believe it lived forever

He could hear the sound of her voice dying for his love the King's choice

Peter crying tears for Agnes revenge will be done cruelty

The prince's heart turned cold and sad she became Queen after death

Near the river found their love
forbidden and secret
I believe it lived forever
The tears running from His eyes forever He will cry and I believe they met in heaven

He became a cruel King
His heart was empty without love