

Orphanage, By Time Alone

I prepared you with all I know as I taught to you I watched you grow changes in the heart and in soul no one ever has got the strenght for that goal you see...

time will tell it's tale to us all the part that we play will be told by time alone and so we realize our story will be told by time alone those who see the shades understand they're the ones who's fear won't get out of hand when one relies too much on his hope he won't search the area beyond his scope follow the line which one is mine?

I've seen things clear no I won't fear

time...
