

Orphanage, Deceiver

your spirit turns black as sympathy of life declines only selfish ways reign in your sickened mind your tears have dried and floods of deceit are unleashed upon all humanity

heed me from you, deceiver, make believer you shattered my dreams in two all trust lost in dust I sweep and in agony I bleed your honesty repressed by hypocrisy mental thief, turning my life into disease no paradise, in hell you'll see internally I'm screaming my fear of dying's dying as compassion decays tell right from wrong words nothing more than vicious lies, betrayal too late, I'm pissed off with violent rage we call him traitor

...bastard!

Hate and fear united won't turn into tranquillity no sympathy for God or Christ reality? It's all fantasy life's washing away forever caressing the bitterness I'm roaming forever through my anger
