

Our Lady Peace, Stealing Babies

(feat. elvin jones)

I'm teething on the answers you're saving
How are you going to make me understand
I'm dreaming while you're stealing babies
How are you going to help me sleep again
How should i say "I'm so sorry";
How should I pray to know that we're alive

Eve stands alone
By the knock on the door
By the thin in her bones
She's courageous & loving
Exhausted & cold

She's not ready to go
But the ghost on the phone
Helps her safely into her dream

You're leaving pieces of family
How are you going to help them understand
I'm screaming while you're stealing babies
Why do you want to knock us down again
