Out Of The Grey, Disappear

Hidden so well hidden in this picture why can't I be drawn outside these lines? Willing just to vanish in your shadow What would wear away this thin disguise? Surrounded by myself I get so tired of me. But I know, I know what I need

Wish I could disappear inside you Disappear Hidden in the way I was intended to be Closer to you and further from me I would disappear, I would disappear disappear

Given,
I've been given so much freedom
Grace abounds and I'm the chief abuser Living in a house that I've constructed out of anything that makes me feel good and safe and right but the Consequece of choices so easily fade there's an empty place I'd eagerly trade

Wish I could disappear inside you Disappear Hidden in the way I was intended to be Closer to you and further from me. I would disppear, I would dispear disapear

Pulling focus from myself now it's coming clear hidden in the way I was intended to be closer to you and further from me. I would disppear, I would dispear disapear,

Pulling focus from myself there's got to be somebody else Coming closer getting near I'll disappear Pulling focus from myself I've got to see somebody else Everything is coming clear I'll disappear
