

Oval Opus, Still Believe

Once again the night is here, and suddenly I find myself reflecting on the things that could be

I tried to lie, I tried to hide, and through my crystal piercing eye nothing can change my mortality

And through an open book the pages turn,
and swinging back the pendulum's race
but it cannot erase my mistake

I know that in the end my life, my mind will comprehend the blessing that all bestow on my life

Well I know that tomorrow the sun will shine again,
and the storms will roll right by me yeah
Well I know that tomorrow I'll rise up again

I can see the clouds of doubt as they surround me but I know all the answers to all of the rhymes, yeah
I can see that even if they all surround me,
I still believe in you So soft and green, and yet serene, like magic falling down from heaven to cover up the splendid earth,

And through this clear and distant sneer
I raise the question, what's the question?
Tell me what the question's for

I tried to love, to hold and see and yet you treat me
As I was the King of the prince of thieves

And through an open book the pages turn,
and swinging back the pendulum's race
but it cannot erase my mistake

Well I know that tomorrow the sun will shine again,
and the storms will roll right by me yeah
Well I know that tomorrow I'll rise up again

I can see the clouds of doubt as they all surround me
but I know all the answers to all of the rhymes, yeah
I can see that even if they surround me,
I still believe in you