

Over It, City Lights

keep it like a secret
keep it close to me
as we take flight beneath the city lights words may escape but i've been set free.

you met her by chance.
not sure if they'll call it fate or circumstance.
Don't know how long to stay...
so many flights up can't believe i found my way.
if we can't make it up,
we'll just have to reinvent what others saypretty, i'll send you the words...

take it slow we've got time another blank horizon is on the rise.
when it feels old, this city life,
i hope you're gonna think of me.
i know you want to try...

life's a borrowed dream.
now i think we're finding out just what they mean;
as our shadows race down these sleepless streets we become the color scheme.
If i may, i know the price we'll pay but i hope you'll wake.

look how you've set me free...keep it, now i need it...to feel you close to me.
when the lights are fading...words may escape but you set me free.
