Overkill, Play The Ace

Fair haired lady and the suicide king Kill the brother of the one eyed jack

Two side of shady as the angels sing

That the jack aint coming back

Double down hide as the preacher folds

And you sweat right out of your clothes

Aces higher than the suicide king

With a pair right under his nose

Dead pan, poker face, where you lie

The angels sing the same

Hey man, choker taste where you die

Carving out your given name

Drive a spade right through your heart

Or a chance just being alive

Is it murder, right handed, art

Is it real or all contrived

God help you

All bets are taken, this table is closed

While outside theyre shaking him out of his clothes

Its a disgrace

Get down on the dead

They been taking over the graveyards

You gotta play the ace

Get down on your head

Its been overriding the good cards

Gotta play the ace

Green-eyed monster got the twinkle right

Got the evil in his eye

One sick as a dog looks a little tight

He cant breathe, he gonna die

As you pound your fist in anger

Words sharper than a blade

But the green-eyed monster is a sure motherfucker

As he plays I tout in spades

God help him

All bets are taken, this table is closed

While outside theyre shaking him out of his clothes

Its a mistake

Blame it on the dead

They been taking over the graveyards

Play the ace

Blame it on your head

Its been overriding the good card

Play the ace

See it, raise it, call it, show

In a sinners room of liars

In the all time hell bound race

And the devil, hes on fire

As the band played on the ace

The ace

See it, raise it, call it, show

The dead sit lifeless in the chair they chose

Its a national disgrace

The green-eyed monster got a real bad dose

As the band played on the ace

Play the ace
