

Owen, I Woke Up Today

I woke up today and felt for my age for the first time in both my mind and body.

My thoughts are less of fitting in and more of being a better man.

But my overbite is getting worse.

And my whole f**king face hurts.

I woke up today with the whimper not the pain of a school boy or a father.

It seems that's fifteen pounds I've lost since you left with the part of me that you loved most and know

And I woke up today feeling my age.

And this song of everything I've ever told.

Either I just got kicked in the teeth or time has changed me.