

Ozark Mountain Daredevils, Love Makes The Lov

(GUITAR INTRO)

I know it's been thought, I know it's been done

I know it's been said, I know it's been sung you can grin like a 'possum, or live like a thief you can stand by the river, and preach your beliefs you can hide in the moonlight

shine in the sun

but it's love makes the lover

and the lovin' makes one

I know there's a springtime, I know there's a fall

I know that there's something, that runs through it all you can call it a mystery, you can call it by name you can call it forever, it's never the same

you can hide in the moonlight

shine in the sun

but it's love makes the lover

and the lovin' makes one

(GUITAR SOLO)

I ain't goin' nowhere, I ain't got a way

I ain't doin' nothin', I'm gonna do it all day you can say I surrendered, you can say that I won you can stay that I found it, you can stay that it's done

you can hide in the moonlight

shine in the sun

but it's love makes the lover

and the lovin' makes one

you can hide in the moonlight
shine in the sun
but it's love makes the lover
and the lovin' makes one

yes, it's love makes the lover
and the lovin' makes one