

Ozark Mountain Daredevils, Lowlands

(GUITAR INTRO)

I heard a song that was taught to a baby and it made the mountain sing

I knew a gift that was given to my lady it was hidden in a dream and there's a light in the lowlands and a river that runs so clean

I'm a poor man feelin' lazy and the lowlands are callin' my name

(hymnal-like chant)

I knew a man who said he was a stranger

'cause his heart he could not trust

I knew a man who could not face the dangers even though he knew he must and it's hard in the lowlands and the grasses will turn to rust

but the sun is a fountain flowing through the lowland's dust
