

Ozark Mountain Daredevils, Out On The Sea

(INTRO)

out on the sea, there is an island

out on the sea, there is a place

out on the sea there's a wave

with the power to save

all the sailors from the dark and the deep we used to dance in the shadows under the moon's pale light away from home and all alone turning away into the night and she would shine like a diamond trapped in a clear crystal ring and the tears in my eyes were the stars in the sky fading away when she would sing

out on the sea, there is an island

out on the sea, there is a place

out on the sea there's a wave

with the power to save

all the sailors from the dark and the deep

Lyrics are copyright 1975, 1976 John Dillon & Elizabeth Anderson