

Pacifier, Brightest Star

When you go against the grain do you know just how beautiful you are when there's nothing left to say you're the brightest star

We're like the water at the edge of a wave that gets left upon the shore dissapears into the sand and was seen no more
