

Paddock Park, It's Not Running Away If You Have

They've got you right, where they've always wanted this to end.
So don't close the void, make use of all their consistency.
I'll let you in, let you in on another escape plan
Cause you've been held captive once again.
Whose to say you can't get away!
I'll let you in, let you in on another escape plan
Cause you've been held captive once again.
I'll break you out if that's what it takes!
And I'll close my eyes so we can disappear
Savor every little moment that we're not here
This is our time to be free
They'll never catch up to you and me
It's all just another game to them
A hiding place for fake friends
And when we run away together
We'll have escaped forever.
I'll let you in, let you in on another escape plan
Cause you've been held captive once again.
Whose to say you can't get away!
I'll let you in, let you in on another escape plan
Cause you've been held captive once again.
I'll break you out if that's what it takes!
From time to time you count your wins and realize you can't give in.
You will never get away with these iron chains on your feet.
It's all just another game to them
A hiding place for fake friends
And when we run away together
We'll have escaped forever.
I'll let you in, let you in on another escape plan
Cause you've been held captive once again.
Whose to say you can't get away!
I'll let you in, let you in on another escape plan
Cause you've been held captive once again.
I'll break you out if that's what it takes!