Pain Of Salvation, Deus Nova (Fabricatio)

Music and arrangements by Daniel Gildenlw

10,000 BC - 1 Million people 9,500 BC - 2 Million people 9,000 BC - 3 Million people 8,500 BC - 4 Million people 8,000 through 5,000 BC - 5 Million people 4,500 BC - 6 Million people 4,000 BC - 7 Million people 3,500 BC - 10 Million people 3,000 BC - 14 Million people 2,500 BC - 20 Million people 2,000 BC - 27 Million people 1,500 BC - 38 Million people 1,000 BC - 50 Million people 500 BC - 100 Million people Year 1 AD - 170 Million people 500 AD - 190 Million people 1,000 AD - 254 Million people 1,500 AD - 425 Million people Year 2,000 AD - 6,080 Million people

Trying to understand the system of Life
Trying to understand myself
I created the world to be an image of myself, of my mind

All of these thoughts, all of these doubts and hopes Inside I took out to form a new breed A new way to be And now I am many, so many

So much larger than ever I were Yet, at the same time
So much smaller and more vulnarable

They all carry shards of the whole Together they become me I see them interact, develop I see them take different sides As were they different minds Believers of different ways, and different gods

I think they will teach me something