

Pain Teens, Manouche

Manouche, the sky is wide reflected in your eyes Black as a moonless night, darkness of starless skies.
Manouche, I fell into love when I saw your face For precious moments I was lost in your embrace.

Manouche, you went away
Your voice lost to my ears
Into the silent sea
I have poured silent tears.
Manouche I'd live anew,
Come back into my arms
Life is cold without you Without your quiet charm.
