

Pain Teens, Prowling

A raging beast that nothing will silence
This dark hunger burning like a fire deep within me
Its anguishing throb seems to overtake my body
Penetrates every pore until it feels as if I could explode
But no explosion sets me free
Now, for the first time, I feel completely alive
A savage creature engorged with heat and desire
Prowling to satisfy my most essential need
My need to transform primordial energy