

Palace, Make You Proud

She was heaven sent
On the wings of
Something blessed
I'm a jealous man with jealous bones
Cut my tongue on words we never had
So wise so young
I never thought I'd breathe again

Never thought I'd breathe again
Never thought I'd breathe again
Never thought I'd breathe again

And I hope I make you proud
Because I'd follow your way
Pick me
Up from the ground
Intertwined we lay
Intertwined we lay

There's an ocean breadth across our heartbeat
Your head on my chest is sweeter than I've ever known
The nights still young
Just stay forever
There's rust on my tongue
But I'm moving onto better things

I'm moving onto better things
I'm moving onto better things
I'm moving onto better things

And I hope I make you proud
Because I'd follow your way
Pick me up from the ground
Intertwined we lay
Intertwined we lay
The sun will shine today

And I hope I make you proud
Because I'd follow your way
Pick me up from the ground
Intertwined we lay
The sun will shine today
Never felt this way
