

Pancho's Lament, Truth About Romeo well it comes down to this juliet she's caught on to the clues you know the one's that she missed the one's that we knew now she's got the news she understands

she's not all wrapped up in the palm of his hands juliet she won't come down her heads high in the castle her hearts underground it's as if "she didn't know"; the truth about romeo

the tables have turned juliet she's got this brand new idea and a few lessons that she's learned how could she be so blind in a spotlight so clear now she understands
she's not all wrapped up in the palm of his hands

juliet...

what if he did love her it sure did not show there's a certain kind of sincerity and when you know you'll know i think she should go now the truth doesn't lie
