

Panic! At The Disco, All by Yourself

If you give a listen
You sweet little kitten
Sitting downstairs in your room
Wood-panel walls
Rock posters from the mall
Playing just for you

When the house lights dim and the show begins
All the aliens touch down on stage
If we could read the script of our future
We would never turn the page
Live forever in a day

All by yourself
All by yourself
You can change everything all by yourself
All by yourself
All by yourself
You're the queen, you're the king
All by yourself

You always hated sports
You buzzed your hair short
Dyed it pink to piss them off
With a hand-poke tattoo
They made a monster outta you
But you're beautiful, you're tough

When the summer ends and school's back in
You feel trapped in the afterglow
Three minutes thirty seconds of a rock and roll record
Is all you need to know
Live forever in a day

All by yourself
All by yourself
You can change everything all by yourself
All by yourself
All by yourself
You're the queen, you're the king
All by yourself
