Pantera, Regular People

Empty and sweating Head lying in your hands Shaking in the corner Done too much alcohol Gotta get away from it all 'Cause it feels my blood is freezing My self insanity has taken its toll Frustration had taken its control Now I'm far from home Spending time alone It's time to set my demons free Been put through the test My mind laid to rest I'm on a psycho holiday Shot down on sight You are the target of attention One woman here another there You can't please all the people all the time Can't tell the strangers From the friends you know Frustration has taken its control Now you're far from home Spending time alone It's time to set your demons free Been put through the test Your mind laid to rest Your on a psycho holiday I'm strapped in for life Is this where I lived Or where I died You want my money You take my space My mind is telling me To leave this place My self insanity had taken its toll Frustration has taken its control Now I'm far from home Spending time alone It's time to set my demons free Been put through the test My mind laid to rest I'm on a psycho holiday Now I'm far from home Spending time alone It's time to set my demons free Been put through the test My mind laid to rest I'm on a psycho holiday Now I'm far from home Spending time alone It's time to set my demons free Been put through the test My mind will never rest

It's been a psycho holiday
