Papa Roach, Had Enough

I turn the channel on the tv Another boy shot tonight I can't believe what I am seeing A body bag, a mother cries It seems like this is never ending I've had enough, so I decide The time has come for me to face it I can't refuse the war inside Cause we have had enough All the violence has touched Every part of our lives Our innocence is gone tonight I don't know if I can hide it I know the truth, it's only lies The present day, we'll deny it The body count, a steady rise In my head there is a riot I changed the world, no one dies The time has come for use to fight it We can't refuse the war inside Cause we have had enough All the violence has touched Every part of our lives Our innocence is gone tonight Cause we have had enough All the violence has touched Every part of our lives Our innocence is gone tonight I know that you can change the future I know that we can make it happen In my head there is a riot And I don't think that I can fight it Cause we have had enough All the violence has touched Every part of our lives Our innocence is gone tonight Cause we have had enough All the violence has touched Every part of our lives Our innocence is gone tonight We have had enough We have had enough We have had enough
