

Papermoon, The Man At The Window

See see how he looks at the sky
See see how he watches the street
Lost in the night when the world is asleep
Free how he wants to be free
Isn't he a bit like you and me

The man at the window
Is dreaming
It seems that he had been forgotten
Noone knows where he is from
The man at the window is dreaming

Look look how he closes his eyes
Look look how he's trying to hide
Noone can see what he's feeling inside
Time is ticking away
Every day is just another day

The man at the window...

Take my hand and you will see the world is smiling
Open your heart and you'll agree
Let the sunshine in believe me
You'll be want you wanted to be
To be

The man at the window
