

Paris, Disco Ghost

She looks like she's alone
Standing at the disco
At the disco
And now she's moving across the floor
Drinking San Francisco
At the disco

And now she's dancing close to you but you can't see her You just feel her
And now she's looking right at you as if you're not there and she doesn't care

I don't know If you can see her dancing today
cause someone took her away
I think it's been twenty years or more since that day but sometimes you still see her sway

No one ever knew where she went but there was a witness so the rumour says
who saw when a man took her away Then she never came back
She never came back

I don't know If you can see her dancing today
cause someone took her away
I think it's been twenty years or more since that day
but If you try real hard you can still see her sway

She was a loner, everyone knew
She was attractive and a good dancer too
Not many people knew her well
She didn't talk much
But when she danced, everyone watched