

Parkway Drive, Boneyards

They try to sift our mens
Never kill, but acidic
So believe me when I say,
I would love nothing more.

If for everything,
To wait on prison grey,
Concrete stones, rising tide,
Cast out and never survive,
Go.

Don't say I didn't warn you.

I would rather see your face in Hell,
Than speak another word,
Of this perfect world.

I would rather see your face in Hell,
Than speak another word,
Of this perfect world.

Of this perfect world.

To be buried beneath the waves,
The silent scream is all that I crave.

Bury me (Bury me),
4000 fathoms deep,
And leave my bones,
For the depths.

The sharpest teeth await our skin.
The sharpest teeth await...
But the swarms,
A matter of what to suggest this.

The Devil's teeth (The Devil's teeth),
The Devil's teeth,
Beneath our skin.
Watch my ring of silent vengeance.
For this remain of pain.

Now every breath of life,
Has been betrayed.
Every light down,
Has lost it prove.

Nothing we hold in solace,
Feed us to the sharks.
So let nothing remain,
Feed us to the sea.

To be buried,
Beneath the waves.
And so I scream until I cry.
Bury me (Bury me),
4000 fathoms deep.
And leave my bones,
For the depths.

There's blood in the water,
(Sinking, always, Sinking).
There's blood in the water,
(Sinking, always, Sinking).

There's blood,
In the water.

I would rather see your face in Hell,
Than speak another word,
Of this perfect fucking world.
