Pat Benatar, Lipstick Lies

You've gotta admit, you paint a pretty picture No one would ever suspect, your so adept at the art I hear the lonely lover sigh You hide behind cosmetic eyes Kiss them off with Lipstick Lies Lipstick Lies won't hide the truth They won't keep you waterproof The victim of your vanity You're the Picasso of pain, a fantasy in fleshtone And though you're never the same You're never far from the mark Now and then you close your eyes To see the heartbreak in disguise Kiss them off with Lipstick Lies Lipstick Lies won't hide the truth They won't keep you waterproof The victim of your vanity You see just what you want to see Who's to blame? Love is love by any name Who's to blame? Lipstick Lies won't hide the truth They won't keep you waterproof The victim of your vanity You see just what you want to see Who's to blame? Love is love by any name Who's to blame? Love is love by any name Who's to blame? Love is love by any name Who's to blame? Written by: N. Geraldo, P. Giraldo & amp; M. Grombacher