

Pati Yang, A Little Wrong

I was just a little wrong
Didn't know that this could hurt
Now you vanished from my world
I think I finally understand
How your laughter made me cry
But my tears have made me strong
And the girl that I've become is not the one you used to know
Would you give her what she came for
Would you give her what is hers
Would you give her back her heart
Now that you're gone without a trace
And why you've taken my heart you My Mamma told me you'd do so but I don't regret a thing
Even though now I'm so alone
No I couldn't play your game
You could read me like a book
This is where this story ends
I guess it ends without a clue
My Mamma said:
Girl, don't you fall in for his charm
Ain't no fairy tale
In this house of cards
Everything I crave
Hidden in your arms
