

Pato Banton, Only Love

Mankind is an endangered species heading for extinction
if man is to avoid this self-destruction and doom
he has no alternative but to learn to love.

Only love can keep us together
only love can keep us going on.

I have seen many wonders in my time
I thank God for the gift of life.
Many mountains does man have to climb
in search for himself to find.
And after all is said and done
it's only love that keeps us going on.

There's some things I see I just can't understand why can't people live as one.
Don't they realize the beauty we could have:
no more wars, no pollution, no more segregation.
The future is in our hands
so come on and love!

Imagine what a beautiful world this could be
with a little more love we all could agree.
Wipe the tears from the hungry child's eyes
more, more, more, more love!
