

Patty Loveless, Everything But The Words

There are whispers I could whisper
Things to bring us close together
And so I've got everything but the words

There are stories in these glances
Where the best of my heart dances
And so I've got everything but the words

Everything that you long to hear
Everything that I'd make so clear
Every phrase that's stayed unspoken
Prays for me to try

I am asking without asking
Before I lose someone worth having
It's like I've got everything but the words

Everything that you long to hear
Everything that I'd make so clear
Every phrase that stays unspoken
Prays for me to try

There are whispers I could whisper
Things to bring us close together
And so I've got everything but the words
