

Paul Alan, The One Thing

the one thing

Brad O'Donnell/Paul Alan

drive away the cold from this winter soul and renew your spirit in me let the rain fall sweet from your mercy seat and remind me that you never will forget to wash away the bitter in the end...

cause we all reach for something don't we--don't we?
we do
live and breathe this one thing don't we--don't we?
we do

and I know you're there just beyond this prayer and I believe you silent as you are and this emptiness is not purposeless it's only thirst compelling us to drink only questions find the answers that we seek

Every atom in me waits- every breath anticipates still if this is what it takes I'll sit right here with you...