

Paul Colman, I'm Coming Home

Everything I want from life is inside these walls
So why am I leaving when I hear the sirens song
A power dark and strong is inside of me
But theres no use running when youre all I need

And its so cold without your love
And its so cold without you love

Im coming home just to be with you
We shut out the world
Yeah thats what we do
When its just two of us how you find me love
Take me to the life Ive been dreaming of

Cause Ive been chasing after things that
Leave me alone and poor
When all the loves and riches I could ever want
Are here inside my door
I want to put you first
Where you should be
Return to you my love
Give you the best of me

Cause its so cold without your love
Yes its so cold without you love
