

Pedestrian, Dosify

There you are, in your mind's all the faces of days less abrasive, rewind
There you go, all you know all you show is a blow I follow behind
Here you are, are your arms strong enough now to carry the weight of my love love love
And you are with your face in a puddle, holding your breath until love comes

Beautiful, you're flower in the making, never cease to exist
Cynical, for you belittle invention anything mentioned about you
And you are with your head in a puddle, holding your breath until love comes

This is your highly unlikely love song
Oh, this is your highly unlikely love song
Oh, this is your highly unlikely love song

Here we are, all reflection is dead for the mouth that we fed is now gone
Beautiful, you're a flower for the taking, God's great creation undone, done, done, done, done
Still you are with your head in a puddle, holding your breath til love comes
Here we are, all your fear and emotion, one big explosion against me

This is your highly unlikely love song
Oh, this is your highly unlikely love song
Oh, this is your highly unlikely love song
Oh, this is your highly unlikely love song
