

Pedestrian, Hummingbird On A Wire

The house is on fire let it burn to the ground
Maybe this explains why I've kept you around
The world is getting heavy so I think I might sleep
I get lost in the tele so I don't have to think

These are all temporary cures
Something to remove my head from its position
Just a quick fix from the burn
Until I get distracted again

Plenty of this, I've got plenty of that
Perhaps a little more would keep me intact
Running all directions yet having nowhere to go
I think I'm going crazy 'cause I've locked all the doors

These are all temporary cures
Something to remove my head from its position
Just a quick fix from the burn
Until I get distracted again

These are all temporary cures
Something to remove my head from its position
Just a quick fix from the burn
Until I get distracted again

Please settle down
My mind's gone abstract
Please settle down
My mind's gone mental

These are all temporary cures
Something to remove my head from its position
Just a quick fix from the burn
Until I get distracted again

These are all temporary cures
Something to remove my head from its position
Just a quick fix from the burn
Until I get distracted again
