

Pedro The Lion, Criticism As Inspiration

i saw in your bedroom the drawers had been emptied looking for answers but you won't admit it now you don't need a reason that's what you tell me but i still don't buy it you drink yourself silly night after night

it makes me feel so good to always tell you when your wrong the big man that i am to always have to put you down and then there's your girlfriend she opens her legs and gives your life meaning is that whhat you love her for the angel's always looking down he's perfect with a frown the bully always wins

it makes me look so good to always put you in your place i can write it in a song but never say it to your face to your face