

Pendragon, Fallen Dreams And Angels

The cold in her eyes as she walks the hungry mile
The fear in her eyes small girl tears thinking of her hometown
Take my hand and as you close your eyes
And if we ever get back to the real world
I wont let the shadows near you

And I climb the mountain I stumbled
in the valleys
And if you should ever lose your strength
Be brave my little angel
Cos I'm never gonna leave you
To fallen dreams and angels
I'll hold your head so close to me
Let all those years of frustration Come flooding out and take what you need from me
Cos I'm never gonna leave you
For fallen dreams and angels

And I climb the mountain I stumbled
in the valleys
And if you should ever lose your strength
Be brave my little angel
Cos I'm never gonna leave you
For fallen dreams and angels

I'll hold your hand gonna take you home