

Fading gently,
Soaking through,
And starting not to show at all
In reaching out and into you, nothing else could touch me

Hold your colours against the wall,
When they take everything away,
Hold your colours against the wall

Soaking through

Hold your colours against the wall,
When they take everything away,
Hold your colours against the wall,
With me.