

Perfect Wound, Thirteen Stitches

TORMENTED by your lack of compassion
I swear to god that you won't bring me down
I don't know how you got me this twisted
I can't believe that I left you alone
And all I ever wanted was a
Change
I'm sorry FOR the pain
That you've endured

TORMENTED by your lies you spit like venom
To watch me bleed
LOOK how fast I've been replaced by
Something that you think you need

And all I ever wanted was a
Change
I'm sorry FOR the pain
That you've endure

All I need is a taste and it brings me to this purer place
All I can see is your face AND YOU CAN'T TAKE IT AWAY
ALL I need is a TASTE, to bring me to a purer PLACE
All I can see if your FACE and you can't take it AWAY

And all I ever wanted was a
Change
I'm sorry FOR the pain
That you endured

See I will not for-GET
Your little pain
I'm sorry FOR the pain
That you endured

How you used your words
Just to cloud my head
It as simple
And how you suck me dry
And you left me dead
Was simple
Now there's one thing I can clearly say
Is you don't mean anything anymore
And I will push you away...

And those things you said
As I'm walking by
They aren't the SLAP IN THE FACE
You would EXPECT them to be
I can't even hope to go back there
Back into this

And all I ever wanted was a
Change
I'm sorry FOR the pain
That you've endured
