

Periphery, Dying Star

Falling pieces, wide awake
Incessant murderer
Murderer, the life you take
Can you feel it?
Puzzle reset
Now I remember, but I'll soon forget

When the only emanation flowing in and around you
Is a wall of limitation, desperation steps out into the light
Patience like medicine
I'll break the mold and settle into my ocean mind, ocean mind

Feel the warmth as we fill our lungs
Remove the world and all that's become
Breathe out the past and presently
Your heart is open

You're as persistent as a dying star
Playing the part of who you are, who you are

Sulk alone, take it home
Yeah, the time means nothing to me
Salt the wound, make it bloom
Oh, the body suffers through it

Patients take medicine, but I'll break the mold and settle into my ocean mind

Feel the warmth as it fills our lungs
Remove the world and all that's become
Breathe out the past and presently
Your heart is open
Feel the warmth as it fills our lungs
Remove the world and all that's become
Breathe out the past and presently
Your heart is open

This whole relationship between me and my life
Has thrown me in hesitation
Lockdown, gaslight situation
Oh, my soul is down, it's not right
Learning when the heart is open
Turn mind into an ocean

So, take space 'cause you're not alone
It's the same place as it was before
On roads unknown
Your heart is open
Take space 'cause you're not alone
It's the not alone
Same place as it was before
On roads unknown
Your heart is open

Feel the warmth as we fill our lungs
Remove the world and all that's become
Breathe out the past and presently
Your heart is open

Take space 'cause you're not alone
It's the same place as it was before
On roads unknown
Your heart is open
Take space 'cause you're not alone
It's the same place as it was before

On roads unknown
Your heart is open