

Perry Blake, You're Not Alone

You're not alone
Not alone
Not alone in this world

If there is fire on the water
There are silhouettes in blue
There are sails that change direction in our lives
And if you ever touch her skin
When she's sleeping next to him
Remind me if i've forgotten what it's like

You're not alone
Not alone
Not alone in this world

There is silence in the evening
There is numbness in the dawn
Where the swallows seem to hover in the sky
Ah but the flowers have not died
And though long enough i'll cry
Her laughter will stay with me 'till the end

You're not alone
Not alone
Not alone in this world

When you take him for the first time
When he has you in his arms
When his caress seems to wipe me from your mind
I will be watching from the wings
And the angels will applaud
That i stayed as i said i would
By your side

You're not alone
Not alone
Not alone in this world

If there is fire on the water
There are silhouettes in blue
There are sails that change direction in our lives
